Background	About Me I am currently serving as an Assistant Lecturer and Instructor at Arba Minch College of Health Sciences in Ethiopia, where I have been actively involved in teaching and mentoring students for the past four years. My role focuses on preparing future healthcare professionals through both theoretical instruction and practical training. In addition to my academic responsibilities, I have gained four months of clinical experience as a hospital-based clinical pharmacist. This experience has enhanced my ability to deliver effective pharmaceutical care, collaborate with healthcare teams, and contribute to improved patient outcomes. I am particularly skilled in clinical pharmacy practice, pharmaceutical care planning, and student-centered teaching. I am passionate about combining academic excellence with practical healthcare service to strengthen health systems and support quality education. Language Skills: I am fluent in English and Amharic, and I am also proficient in Kambatissa, enabling me to communicate effectively with diverse populations and contribute in multilingual environments. Currently, I am seeking to expand my professional experience internationally, especially in Italy, where I hope to bring my expertise, dedication, and collaborative spirit to a forward-thinking healthcare or academic institution.
